Mem-X is a voice memory aid designed for those with some memory loss it tells the user in a pre-recorded voice what they have to do at that time, from special events to taking medication.

- At the alarm time the Mem-X will sound the alarm, simply push the blue button to play the prerecorded message
- Up to 90 messages can be stored, each up to 10 seconds in length

We believe that the Mem-X reminder is a very useful aid for those with cognitive difficulties who can carry on living independently provided that they are prompted to perform regular and occasional tasks by a familiar voice.

The Mem-X message system is simple but customisable: messages can be set to play daily, weekly, or as a single playback on a certain date.

How to use the Mem-X

- The Mem-X will sound an alarm at the given time
- Press the large blue button to play the pre-recorded message

How to program the Mem-X

The Mem-X is easily programmable;
