The Geemarc VISO10 Radio Controlled Calendar Clock in Wood Effect is the ideal solution for people who want a clock that clearly displays the time and date, without the inconvenience of having to manually adjust the time for daylight savings.

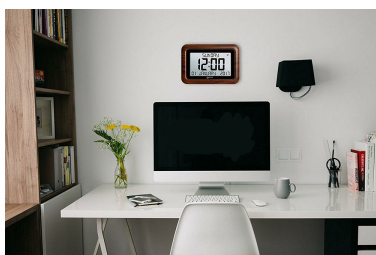

Completely automatic time/date

- Time and date will never have to be manually changed, even for daylight savings
- Easy to set-up, simply insert the batteries and in 1-2 minutes the clock will receive the correct time via radio transmission
- Synchronises to the correct time every day by receiving radio transmissions, prevents gaining/losing of time over long periods
- The radio controlled feature can be turned off, for example if you wish to use the clock abroad

Important: Display isn't viewable in the dark

Please be aware that this clock does not have a backlit display and consequently cannot be viewed in the dark.
