Link & Think Celebrity is an engaging cognitive stimulation game from Active Minds. The game encourages great conversations by helping individuals create associations between their favourite celebrities.

Hilarious conversations are bound to ensue when people begin chatting about their most loved (or disliked) celebrities. Do you prefer Frank Sinatra or David Bowie?

Link & Think was designed by Active Minds as an inclusive but challenging cognitive activity for people in early to mid stages of dementia. This is a great exercise open up communication and to discover more about the thoughts and opinions of people closest to you.

How it Works

The game works by rolling the dice and following the instructions such as; Pick 3 tiles, which is the odd one out? Then select the tiles at random and discuss.
