Link & Think - Hobbies is the latest cognitive association activity from Active Minds which challenges players to share differences, commonalities and opinions across well recognised hobbies. What takes longer, fishing or trainspotting?

Link & Think was designed as a stimulating conversational game and has been tested alongside people in early to mid stages of dementia. Using cognitive associations, this game opens up communication and helps you to discover more about the thoughts and opinions of those around you.

How it Works

Roll the dice and following the instructions such as; Pick 3 tiles, which is the odd one out? Then select the tiles at random and discuss.
